

The Hawes Family Association

NEWSLETTER

ISSUE NUMBER 50

March 2012

Purpose

The Purpose of the Association is to continue to collect and preserve family histories of Hawes people and allied families; to share our knowledge of family histories and to strengthen extended family ties. The association was established by Helen Hawes Hudgins and Anna Hawes Greaves in 1989, to include all the descendants of Samuel Hawes of Colonial Virginia. Samuel Hawes I was born circa 1675, and died circa 1769 in Caroline County, Virginia. All family members descend from one of Samuel Hawes's two sons; Isaac Hawes, Sr. or Samuel Hawes II.

April 14, 2012 Reunion

This year we are holding the reunion in Waco, Texas!! For several years, Maceo and Hawesville Kentucky were the reunion's sites. Now it's time to meet the Texas Hawes. Texas warms up early in both its citizens and climate. So, we are holding the reunion on Saturday, 14 April, to enjoy the spring and avoid the summer heat. The picture insert above is the Homewood Suites Hilton hotel in south Waco. We will have use of a conference room to meet at the hotel. Breakfast is included with the room charge. To reach the hotel, either call: 254-644-4663; or access the Internet at: <http://www.homewoodsuites.com>.

Our Waco cousin, Jay Hawes, has researched the area hotels and recommends this one as it is one year new with 80 attractive rooms. He saw the breakfast and declared it attractive as well. There is a jogging/walking path around the hotel lake for those early risers with that extra bit of energy.

Waco has a regional airport that is about 10 minutes away from the hotel. Dallas-Fort Worth and Austin-Bergstrom airports are both about a 2 hour drive from the hotel.

We need to start planning the details early to guarantee the conference room. Saturday 14 April is the selected reunion day. An early headcount of those who are interested would be greatly appreciated. If you think you might come, please let us know. If you know you are coming, let us know and go ahead and make your hotel reservation. This will be a great opportunity to meet more of the Texas family.

See you there!

Please, contact Jay Hawes: home address - 3332 Chimney Place Dr, Waco, Tx., 76702; or, register online at <http://www.hawesfamilyassociation.com>.

Albert Horton Foote Jr.

Albert Horton Foote, Jr., Chronicler of America in Plays and Film, was born in Wharton, Texas, March 14, 1916. He chronicled a wistful American odyssey through the 20th century in plays and films mostly set in a small town in Texas and who left a literary legacy as one of the country's foremost storytellers.

Although he boarded a train for Dallas at 16 to pursue acting, Horton never really left home. From his first efforts as a playwright, he returned again and again to set his plays and films amid the pecan groves and Victorian houses with large front porches on the tree-lined streets of Wharton. His inspiration came from the people he knew and the stories he heard growing up there.

Horton Foote spent two years studying acting in California, then went to New York to become a Broadway star. While in New York, the actors in the acting company were asked to perform improvisations based on life in the actors' hometowns. After Horton performed his, he was asked if he had ever considered writing. He continued acting and appeared in other plays. On a trip home to Wharton, he wrote a three act play set in a small town drugstore called "Texas Town". It was staged in 1941 with Horton in the lead. The play was reviewed by a noted critic, Brooks Atkinson, who stated that Mr. Foote's play is "an able evocation of a part of life in America".

While working in a New York bookstore, he met Lillian Vallish. They married a year later on June 4, 1945. They had four children: Hallie, an actress; Horton Jr., an actor and director; Walter, a lawyer; and Daisy, a playwright.

In 1950, Horton was in New York to help usher in the era of television writing the weekly half-hour episodes of "The Gabby Hayes Show". Shortly after he was on contract to write nine one-hour dramas for television. The third of these was called "The Trip to Bountiful", which starred Lillian Gish as the gentle and long-suffering widow, Carrie Watts. The play would have several incarnations over his life. A 1985 movie starring Geraldine Page received an Academy Award for best actress and Horton a nomination for the screenplay.

Television moved to the West Coast. There Horton's work led to his first film projects. One was the adaptation of "To Kill a Mockingbird", in which he received his first Academy Award. Horton had another film success with "Baby, the Rain Must Fall" (1965) starring Steve McQueen. Then the Hollywood honeymoon soured. He moved to New Hampshire to live on a farm. After the death of his parents, he began the nine-play cycle called "The Orphans' Home". The first of these plays were staged in New York and marked the start of the Foote revival.

While working on "The Orphans' Home", he began working on a story about a group of young singers trying to break into country and western music. The movie "Tender Mercies" was filmed in Waxahachie, Texas, starring Robert Duvall. It received Academy Awards for best-actor and best screenplay. Horton Foote Jr., died on March 4, 2009 in Hartford, Connecticut, at age 92.
